3. In pursuit of our plans for the refinement of our clinical capabilities and development of a computerized multiphasic screening system for our clinical program, we are seeking the counsel of recognized authorities in this field. This week, for example, Director of Medical Services; Chief, Clinical Division; and the OMS Medical Systems Development Officer visited the Department of Cardiology of the Georgetown University School of Medicine. Dr. W. Proctor Harvey, who directs that department, demonstrated for us certain aids used in the diagnosis of heart disease.
